An Introduction

03

Bottom line results at the heart of everything we do.

Colehouse Communications deliver high-quality, high-impact photography and videography services to help brands effectively engage with their audiences online.

You can have the best photography in the world, but if people aren't seeing it, then... what's the point?

We have 7 years experience in digital consultancy and expertise and so can offer a bespoke service for your brand which will result in more business for you.

The Planning

04

The planning and pre-production period plays an integral part in the development of impressive, eye-catching photography and videography...

You'll meet the team and have a strategy session which includes:

- Brand history and customer journey exploration
- Ideas discussion
- Location Scouting
- Shot Listing
- Storyboards & Scripts

The Shooting & Editing

Whether it is a product shot, an interior pic a team photo we take all forms of uses into consideration. We want your film and photography to work for you across your website, social media, marketing materials, customer emails and more.

We will arrange the shots and have a lot of fun on site with you getting the job done. We tend to find we get a few great ideas on the day too and dont mind throwing them in the mix - its your shoot!

Once we're done we take the best shots and add some editing magic.

Review & Handover

07

The initial editing is done and dusted! Now all you need to do is review the finished piece and let us know what you think. This is the bit we love - we thrive off our customers reactions to the work we've done.

Something you want to change? That's no problem we work with two rounds of feedback so we can perfect things and you can be happy.

The Consultation

Amendments have been made and you're over the moon with the final product! Once we've received the final invoice payment, we will hand over the high-quality, highly engaging content which we have worked with you to produce.

Now the materials are yours to use freely but you need to know how to use them to receive the best ROI. We value the relationships which we form with clients during the production process, and truly care about how you can utilise these materials to achieve the best possible results and boost your social presence through a FREE two hour consultation with you or your team.

Client Study: Hidebound

Hidebound, handcraft a unique range of leather drinking vessels, made to historical design and adapted for contemporary use. The team wanted some support in the production of professional images to showcase their product offerings. The initial shoot was used as research of their product, honing in on the high detail and range of their products, some of these images could be used for creative posts and for effective product sweeps in the video production.

Our second meeting with Hidebound involved capturing their best-selling products with a full studio set-up using backdrops and lighting. The team are continuing to work with Hidebound to develop how our photography and video service offerings can be used to boost their social media presence through video advertising.

Client Study: The Porky Pint

09

The Porky Pint is a traditional real ale bar - under new ownership they asked us to help them to elevate this further by providing our photography service.

After consulting with them, we took a range of interior and exterior shots plus a range of product shots to showcase what they can offer.

We are continuing to work with The Porky Pint to help them to utilise these assets to their full potential and to give them the best possible return on their investment.
